THE JOURNEY

Ranchi

A city that can arguably be called the hub of waterfalls, Ranchi packs in a handful of variety in itself. Along with the temples it has to offer, it also has the excitement of visiting a deer park, a wildlife sanctuary and the Muta Crocodile Breeding Farm which is a unique exposure. To top it off, Ranchi city provides all modern luxuries for a vacation that is full of adventure and leisure.

Famous For : Things To DoCity

Home to a multiplicity of temples and waterfalls, Ranchi is the capital city of Jharkhand. It has the hilly terrain of the Chotta Nagpur Plateau for a backdrop, and a cool, breezy temperature which acts like a balm. Surrounded by a thick forest cover, the city is fringed by tribal habitations. The Tribal Research Institute and Museum depicts their culture, helping the tourist in understanding tribal rituals and customs. Most waterfalls run here all year long, and watching silvery sheets of water cascading down mountains, in Hundru Falls, Jonha Falls, Panchghagh Falls and Dassam Falls is an unforgettable sight. The Jagannath Temple, Angrabari and Pahari Mandir are worth a visit. There is also the Ranchi Lake, providing the perfect station for relaxation after a day of sightseeing. At the Birsa Zoological Park located near Ormanjhi, one can view animals like Bears, Nilgai, Sambar and Chital in their natural environs. All in all it is a destination for a family vacation, packing in something for everyone.

What To SEE

5 Sights

<http://www.ixigo.com/places-to-visit-see-in-ranchi-lp-1140427>

1 Dewri Mandir

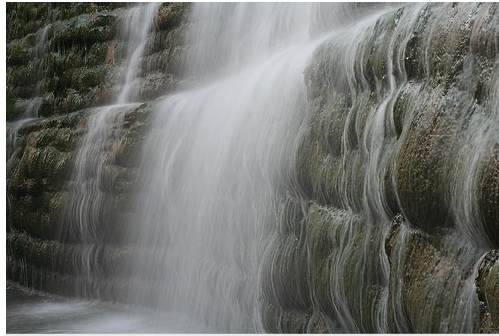

📍 Tata-Ranchi Highway, National Highway 33, Ranchi, Jharkhand 834001, India

Dedicated to Solha Bhuji Goddess, an avatar of Goddess Durga, Dewri Mandir temple is located outside the main city of Ranchi. Spread over nearly 2 acres, this old temple in Ranchi also houses an idol of Lord Shiva here. Legend has it that whoever has tried to alter the structure of the temple has had to face the wrath of the gods and suffer consequences.

Dewri Temple is also believed to be the only temple where 6 tribal priests, known as Pahans, perform rituals and offer prayers alongside the Brahmin priests. Soak yourself in the spiritually uplifting aura here!

2 Dassam Falls

📍 Near Taimara Village, Bundu, National Highway 33 On Ranchi-Jamshedpur Highway, Ranchi, Jharkhand 834001, India

Dassam Fall, also known as Dassam Ghagh, is another popular waterfall in the Ranchi region. The falls are believed to be split into 10 streams, and hence the name "dassam". The River Kanchi, a tributary of the larger Subarnarekha, falls from a height of 144 feet to create this cascading length of natural, untouched beauty.

You can hear the gushing echoes of these falls even from a distance, inviting you to feast on the sheer beauty and resounding peace. Though it is usually the practice to splash around the falls in Ranchi, Dassam Falls are particularly swift and not suited for bathing.

3 Jagannath Temple

📍 Dhurwa, Ranchi, Jharkhand 834004, India

This 17th century temple was built by King Ani Nath Shahdeo. As the name suggests, the temple is built in the same architectural style of the main Jagannath temple in Puri. And just like the 'Rath Yatra' in Puri, a huge procession and fair is held every year during the month of June-July. This is the time when the temple attracts hordes of devotees not just from Ranchi, but from surrounding cities and villages.

The temple is built on a hill top and one has to climb numerous stairs to reach the top. There is also a motorway built for the convenience of travellers. The view from the top of this temple is amazing.

4 Rock Garden

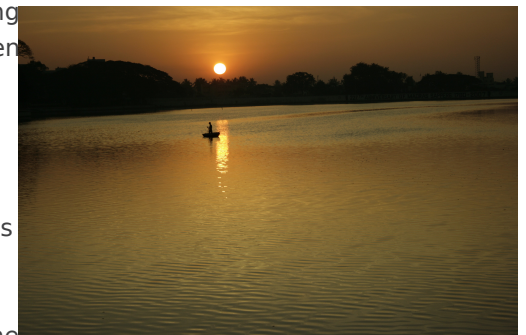

📍 Roack Garden, Kanke Road, Gandhi Nagar, Ranchi, Jharkhand 834008, India

Built near the Gonda Hill is Ranchi's famous Rock Garden. A fully man-made complex, it strives to balance the beauty of nature and man's own creative abilities.

The garden is believed to have been built out of the rocks from Gonda Hill itself, in a bid to replicate the Rock Garden of Jaipur. With faux waterfalls, rocks and sculptures artistically strewn about, the garden is a great place for a casual stroll with family or some quiet moments in solitude.

5 Ranchi Lake

📍 Upper Bazar, Ranchi, Jharkhand 834001, India

This man-made lake was excavated and constructed at the base of the looming Ranchi hill. This was the brainchild of a British national, called Colonel Onseley. The waters of the lake are very calm and clean. This is also a good spot for birdwatching. If you spend a good amount of time by the lake, chances are you'll spot at least 15 different varieties of water birds.

Spread over 52 acres, the lake is pretty huge. The mirrored surface of the lake reflecting the hill and the surrounding greenery is truly a wonderful sight. Boating is a favourite recreational activity in the lake. Sunrise and sunsets are quite spectacular from this spot.
