THE JOURNEY

Karnataka

Offering the perfect amalgamation of natural beauty and modern architecture, Karnataka, home to the highest waterfall in the country, will mesmerise you with its enchanting beauty.

Famous For : State / Provinc

Being a hub of the Indian IT industry, you might expect only tall corporate buildings in the state but, quite contrary to it, Karnataka is one of the most beautiful places in the country, which is well-endowed with natural beauty. A trip to the Jog Falls will make you realise that the above statement is true. As the foaming white water cascades down to the ground, you will have a sight that will be etched forever in your memory.

Home to five national parks, you will have the opportunity to explore the rich and diverse floras and faunas of the state. The place is dotted with various temples, from the Udupi Krishna Temple to the Kukke Sri Subramanya Temple, some of which are popular for their architectural splendour. Apart from all these, Karnataka's long seashore has many enchanting beaches, which are just perfect to watch the setting sun!

Karnataka has a long coastline, stretching more than 200 km between Goa and Kerala, forts can be seen standing in pride holding tales of the past in every brick. It is said that during the rule of the Vijayanagar empire, diamonds were sold on the streets, more specifically in a street named Pan Supaari Street. The street is now marked by the Archaeological Survey of India for tourists to see. The 'Hampi Utsav' that takes place in the first week of November is worth a visit. It is a cultural extravaganza of music and dance and to increase visual delight, when the monuments and the ruins are lit up.

1 Hampi

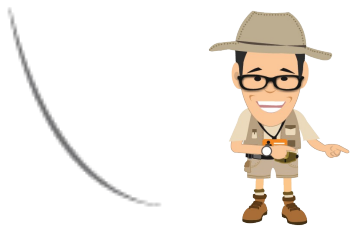

The ruins of the ancient city of Hampi are strikingly, unexpectedly, even eerily beautiful. This 16th century capital of the Vijayanagara Kingdom lies on the banks of the Tungabhadra River, surrounded by stark rocky ridges and mammoth boulders seemingly precariously balanced on each other. The vast spaces are silent, but the ruins are eloquent.

Hampi is a popular tourist destination that is the home to around 500 marvelous historic monuments. Imperial palaces, temples and

2 Shimoga

Located in the heart of the state of Karnataka, Shimoga is blessed with nature's bounty-landscapes with beautiful waterfalls, swaying palms and lush paddy fields. Other than being a tourist destination, its rich tradition in education, fine arts and culture make it the 'Culture Capital of Karnataka'. Known as the rice bowl of Karnataka, it has the biggest Areca nut market, along with many other agricultural produces like rice, chili and coconut.
